Dear Mrs. Gornell and Mrs. Paine,

Wow! I'm glad you started reading The Miraculous Journey of Edward Tulane to the c since I started to like the book, I checked it at the library. So far, I'm on pg. 163 and the story just got more interesting. At that point Edward was found for the third time! Now he belongs to a little girl named Sarah Ruth, but sad she was very sick. At the sixth month part by, Sarah Ruth began to cough up blood and soon after she died. Her brother, Bryce, had an argument with his father and took Edward with him to a street corner for show business. So he made Edward dance and got just enough to eat something.

I found that the part when Edward hit his head on the food counter interesting because he said that once that happened everything went black. Then he said that he was back in Egypt Street. He walked into Abilene's house and saw Bull, Bryce, Abilene, Nellie, and Lawrence. They called out Edward's name. Edward looked around the room without any help for Sarah so Bryce showed him and pointed at the stars. Edward felt sorry for her, he explained it as a deep, sweet, and a familiar feeling.

Love,
Noelani

Wow, Edward has quite the life!

Dear Mrs. Paine and Mrs. Gosnell,

This week I'm reading an amazing book called Dog Lost by, Ingrid Lee. In this realistic fiction book, a boy named Mackenzie, gets a dog, a pit bull to be exact and names him Cash. One day, Mackenzie's dad kicks Mackenzie and Cash. Cash growls at his dad while trying to protect Mackenzie. His dad gets very angry and takes Cash away from Mackenzie. He then leaves Cash in the middle of nowhere! Mackenzie tries to find Cash everyday, but it's no use. One day, Cash was on the evening news. Since a lot of people think pit bulls are mean, they can't believe the news. An old lady named Mrs. Brody's house caught on fire and Cash risked her life to pull Mrs. Brody out. Everyone thinks she's the wonder dog. That's all I've read so far, but I can't wait to read more of this breathless page turning book.

h no!
wow
Sad!

Wow, this does sound like a page turner!

One character I think is interesting is Cash. She is such a sweet dog and she never loses hope. Every day she's stranded outside, she sat and waited for Mackenzie to save her. I think she would be a dog that I would want because she also is very cute. Cash would get along very well with my dogs too. She would be a great addition to my family. Cash is also very funny because she is always chewing Mackenzie's shoes. Cash also tries to save many lives like Mrs. Brody, and she stops a train from hitting a car. I really like this book and you should read it.

Cash does sound like a great pet!

Love,

Excellent, Kasyn!

Dear Mrs. Paine and Mrs. Goshell, 9/21/11

I love reading and this book made reading very exciting this week, it's called Lanie by Jane Kurtz! This Historical Fiction book sure caught my attention with its remarkable story and illustrations on the cover. A girl named Lanie lives in Boston and all of a sudden her Aunt Hannah comes and visits. Lanie is a scientist and also her Aunt Hannah, she was very happy. They have been studying bird sounds. Sadly, one morning Lanie woke up to find her aunt gone! She got asked to Costa Rica to help with birds and their songs. Lanie got so mad she didn't know what to do. Give it a read and you'll find out.

Love this

Just enough
info!
😊

Lanie is an AMAZING book. This book is interesting and surprising. Out of this whole book what I found most surprising is that her Aunt Hannah left - even though she was only there for like a week! She was supposed to stay for the summer but she left. What's interesting is that she's a VERY smart scientist. She has the smartest ideas and crazy ones too! One that sticks to me is being able to walk her bunny! This book is an insane book that you just have to read.

Superb writing!
